Interior Secretary Ballinger Joins the President's Party and Will Discuss Salt Lake Speech With His Chief.

WARM GREETING IN DENVER

ENVER, Sept. 21.—Making his way still further to the west, afternoon and tonight in the Denver auditorium, where a year ago Mr. Bryan was nominated as his opponent in the presidential race, faced a crowd of thousands that in its noisy welcome and continuing enthusiasm recalled some of the scenes of convention week.

President Taft, switching from his purpose to discuss the question of the conservation of natural resources in his Denver speech, elected tonight to take up the corporation tax passed as a part of the Payne tariff bill and to defend it as against the proposition to impose a direct income tax, which he acknowledged seemed likely to pass the senate when the corporation tax was devised as a compromise. The President strongly upped that all the states should about

For the first time since the typhoid epidemic broke out, Dr. M. R. Stewart, city health commissioner, took an active hand in the fight yesterday. He called a meeting in his office, which was attended by Dr. F. S. Bascom, president of the state board of health. Thomas Hobdaf, superintendent of waterworks, Walter J. At this meeting it was shown to the satisfaction of Dr. Bascom that the illness of Mrs. Steve Moss, which is said to be the grip, is responsible for much of the typhoid fever in Salt Lake, and he ordered Dr. Stewart of the Salt Lake board of health to refuse permission from Wood's Cross dairies to ship milk

The quarantine against these three dairies will continue for two weeks at least, or until all chance of communicating the disease from there is over. Meanwhile, the premises will be thoroughly cleaned and everything done to make it perfectly sanitary and safe.

Commissioner Prouty Arrives to Hear the Testimony and the Traffic Bureau Is Ready to Begin Great Battle.

RAILROADS ARE ANXIOUS

With the arrival in Salt Lake last night of Charles A. Prouty of Vermont, a member of the interstate commerce commission, to participate in the rate hearing which opens in this city today, practically all the notables who will take part in the inquiry were on the ground.

Mr. Prouty, accompanied by Morris W. Knowlton, his stenographer, reached the city shortly after 8 o'clock, having come from the east over the Union Pacific, and went at once to the Wilson hotel, where rooms had been reserved for him.

Commissioner Prouty said he had not read the complaint or the answer in the Salt Lake case, but is familiar with the rate controversy involving the inland and the coast cities, and expressed himself a manner similar to Commissione Mark, who reached the city Monday evening, saying that the question involved in the Utah case was a very important one; more important, in fact, than as

One of them attacked Hosken and he lost his footing. Other animals immediately jumped on him and gored him with their tusks. Carter ran for help, and three men armed with clubs finally drove off the hogs. Hosken died from the shock and loss of blood. He was the son of a Church of England, and had been in this country only a short time.

Mr. Prouty paid his last visit to Salt Lake, prior to the present one, in an official capacity, about two years ago, at that time looking into the question of the ownership of coal lands by railroads. The interstate commerce commission had been instructed by congress to inquire into the ownership of coal lands by the railroads and Mr. Prouty came here at that time to investigate the ownership of way past Low Point, eleven miles down that time to investigate the ownership of the bay, and continued all the way to the harber and until the commander reached the Sydney hotel.
